* ? Raclette : use of the term is restricted, by convention, to edge retouch on ventral surfaces; this may need to be rethought, however, because similar diminutive contiguous flake-scars abound on dorsal edges of Mousterian pieces at our and other Mediterranean Spanish sites, precise microscopic research is necessary - if only to separate accidental edge-damage and use-wear from intentional flaking - though even with excellent instruments (we use a Zeiss Jenapol and a Leica MZ-12) it can be extraordinarily difficult to classify these phenomena.
